

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A damper assembly includes a reservoir chamber for supplying hydraulic fluid to a main damper chamber. The reservoir chamber is in fluid communication with damper chamber through an internal fluid passage formed by openings in the damper housing and the reservoir housing. Mating features align the reservoir and damper housing relative to each other.